Dear Boatanchor and Digest Readers:

As you know, Paul Prescott unsubscribed about 20 people whose requests arrived before the cutoff Wednesday night.

Paul will not be doing any more maintenance on the list until late October.

The subscription address for the list is boatanchors-request@gnu.ai.mit.edu but DON'T send a request now. The first thing Paul did the other night was delete his mailbox, as he had a few megabytes of mail. He says he's going to do that again in October, so wait until you hear that he is back in Texas before you send a request. Otherwise, your request will be lost and you will be frustrated.

My involvement in this process was to provide a terminal for Paul to use to do the maintenance. I know less about Unix than I know about life on Mars, and I couldn't maintain this list even if I did know the password! Wednesday's operation was a one-shot deal. As the man says, this offer will not be repeated.

If you want to subscribe to the list directly or unsubscribe, please wait until you hear that Paul is back on line. DO NOT send unsubscribe email directly to the list; it will only aggravate certain list curmudgeons like me, and may earn you a nastygram. And since I gave up coffee....

I asked Paul about the duplicate postings we seem to get on this list, but he couldn't explain them. Just one of life's little vicissitudes. But this list is definitely worth what we pay for it, so please be patient a few more weeks.

Thanks and 73

A friend of mine across town is building (collecting parts for) an 813 amplifier and needs 3 tube sockets new or used.

I need a fil xfmr 10vac at 10 or more amps. I can trade or pay. I'll pay for both sockets and xfmr if the same person has both.

Please be a little more specific about the sockets. I'll be at hamfests Saturday and Sunday if all goes well.

Rhett and al.,

The 813 sockets are "jumbo 7-pin" sockets. I'm told that they are often square and flat (no bayonet sleeve), ceramic of course.

I need two or three, also, so if you find any, get a bunch.

(Willing to pay up to about $10 each)

Okay Gang, what's the origin of Fahnestock clips? I assume there was a person named Fahnestock since it's in upper case.
Where does one get Fahnestock clips today? RadShack doesn't seem to carry them.

Jim, KR1S-

Just wanted to say publicly a hearty "Thank-You" for going to the trouble to contact Paul Prescott, and making arrangements for Paul to do some limited maintenance to the list. Also, for keeping the list informed about Paul and new subscribers waiting to get on.

Amen and I'll second that. Super effort and good show Jim.
